Have Class Ten got what it takes to be an explorer?

Class Ten began their training at 093hrs @Bosvigo Basecamp. After being allocated their groups: Cook, Columbus, Earhart and Marco Polo they got stuck into gaining an understanding of what explorers eat whilst on an expedition by making some no-bake flapjacks – everyone decided at this point they'd definitely like to be an explorer!

However, the next activity put a few candidates off the idea of trekking through Antarctica – the blubber glove experiment. This was an opportunity for the children to investigate how long they could keep their hand in ice cold water for with and without a layer of fat (margarine) covering it. Most discovered that the seals had got it right and that blubber was indeed a good insulator.

The children then took part in some sledge pulling exercise, by lugging heavy tyres up and down the playground. After recording everyone's resting and active pulse rates, we found out that most children were indeed fit enough to become an explorer but a few didn't like the idea of pulling a sledge for hours, days, weeks and months!

The final test was looking at how tricky it was to get in and out of many sleeping bags in a pair of very thick gloves.

Well done Team Ten – you were great!

Parking

*Please can we remind all parents and carers that the school car park is for staff and official visitor use only. At the beginning and end of the school day, we often have children moving to and from clubs and our Site Staff require access to all areas. Additional movement of unauthorised vehicles and parking on site causes increased risk.
Thank you for your support.*
